Welcome!

Inside Soap isn't just for your Corrie and EastEnders and the like. Nope, it's also for all those other shows you know and love – which is why we dedicate a whole section to the daytime soaps and the nighttime dramas in the Inside

Soap Awards. In daytime, it's an international battle as the stars of Doctors fight the combined Aussie

"It's civil war as Casualty fights it out with Holby!"

forces of Home and Away and Neighbours. But while it may be two against one, those medics can hold their own, as proved last year when Mrs Tembe – aka the lovely Lorna Laidlaw – walked away with the Best Daytime Star award.

Meanwhile, it's civil war in the corridors as Casualty and Holby go head-to-head in the Drama category. Last year, Casualty was victorious – and we all know just how scheming those Holby consultants can be, so let this year's battle commence! The stars of all these shows campaign for your votes on p46.

CARLA'S DISTRAUGHT AS

HOTTEST headlines... /

Street!

Terror strikes Coronation Street this week – when Peter is gunned down outside the factory as horrified Carla screams for help!

The brand-new business partners are unlocking the doors at Underworld when a car screeches up outside, and a gunman opens fire. Peter is hit square in the chest and collapses to the floor, while distraught Carla rushes to his side. Worse still, it soon becomes clear the attack was a message to Peter's teenage son Simon that he shouldn't testify against his violent former friend, Tyler...

"It all happens so quickly, Peter doesn't have time to get out of the way!" reveals our Weatherfield witness. "Given her history with armed madmen at the factory, Carla loses it. She's devastated as she rushes over to Peter, terrified that he's dead and that she will lose him forever. It could well be the moment that Carla realises where her heart truly lies."

THROWN TOGETHER

This moment of clarity comes at the end of a week that sees Carla try to get the measure of Peter's loyalty to her, by putting her ex to the test to see if he's a changed man. She's horrified when he reveals that he's quit Streetcars to give Underworld his full attention from now on, as she's been trying to keep Peter at arm's length since he revived his romantic interest in her. Carla doesn't want to have to spend all her working hours dealing with her former husband – but could the lady be protesting too much?

CONTINUED OVER ➤

Simon's involvement with Tyler's gang has horrific consequences

In her bid to get the factory in order, Carla starts a recruitment drive for new machinists – and while she’s checking out applicants online, she notices one girl has a familiar face. Peter wrecked his marriage to Carla by having an affair with Tina McIntyre, the doomed beauty killed by Carla’s brother Rob Donovan. Seizing the chance to put Peter to the test, Carla invites the girl – a dead ringer for Tina – in for an interview, and asks Peter to join them for the appointment.

When she walks in, it’s clear Peter is shocked by the similarity to his tragic mistress. But will his handling of the situation manage to convince Carla that he’s turned his back on his old ways?

SIMON’S TORMENT

“Meanwhile, as Peter and Carla play games at the factory, Simon has to face the music when he returns from Cornwall with Ken,” sighs our spy. “He’s due in court for his part in the crimes committed by Tyler’s gang, and is relieved to get a referral order by the judge. But he still must give evidence against Tyler, and that puts Simon in huge danger – the gang will stop at nothing to silence him.”

Their intentions are evident when the next day, Simon is grabbed by two masked attackers who try to drag him into a waiting car. Thankfully, Kate is passing by and pulls Simon from the car he’s being bundled into. As the motor speeds off, Simon is a wreck – and after Kate takes him to Peter and Leanne, he shows them the threatening texts he’s been receiving. The parents vow to take a stand, and Peter swears he’ll protect his son – but the next day, disaster strikes...

Peter takes Simon to the factory for the day to ensure he’s safe, and asks Carla to keep an eye on him while he goes out. She’s happy to help, but when a situation with Sinead kicks off, Carla leaves the factory – and Simon – unattended. It doesn’t take long for Tyler and his cronies to approach the building, banging on the windows and doors and shouting threats to Simon – and as horrified Peter and Carla rush back to Underworld, a shot is fired.

Is this the moment that changes everything for Simon, Carla and Peter?

Kate White

“Should Carla & Peter be together? Probably not!”

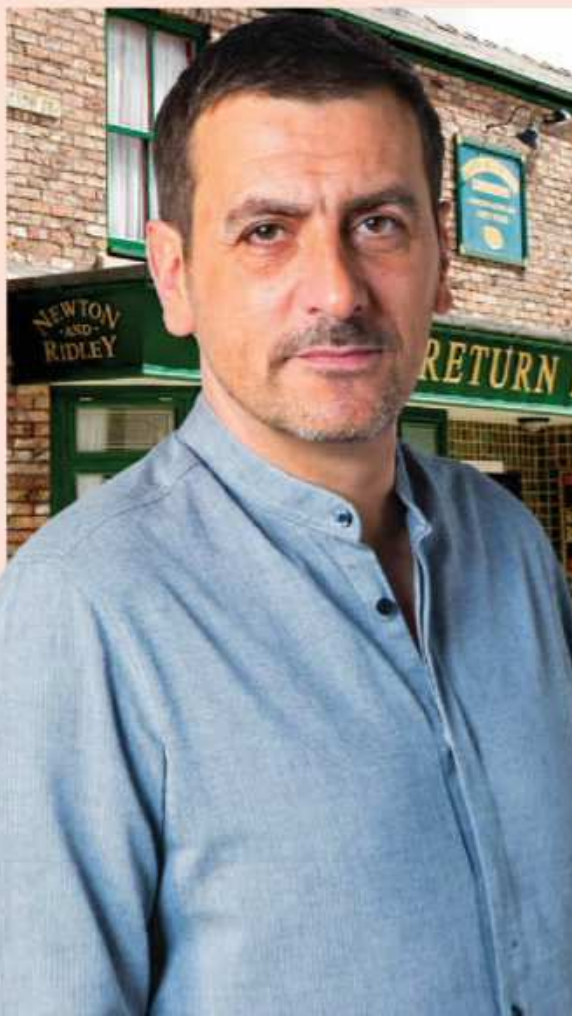

Chris Gascoyne – aka Peter – weighs in on soap’s hottest debate...

Hi, Chris! It’s been exciting to see the old magic between Carla and Peter. Why is he so hell-bent on getting her back?

Peter did really love Toyah, so he was absolutely devastated by her betrayal, and the first person he turned to was Carla. They have been through a lot together, and they are both quite flawed individuals. They have that connection.

Is he only in business at Underworld as part of his grand plan to get her back?

It’s not his sole intention, as Peter needs a business interest and he’s convinced he’s doing it for the right reasons. He’s a bit lost, so Underworld gives him a purpose. But it’s clear that working together as business partners isn’t going to be that easy.

Do you reckon Peter will pass Carla’s ‘Tina Test’ this week?

He’s taken aback, and doesn’t know this is a test. Will he pass? You’ll have to wait and see, but it’s interesting that Carla’s keen to find out if Peter is still easily swayed. Also, when Peter is shot, Carla is hysterical!

What lengths would Peter go to in order to win back Carla?

He’ll put all his energy into proving he can help run the factory, then see what follows – if anything. Should Carla and Peter be together as a couple? Probably not! But with Nick about to arrive back on the scene, anything could happen.

Charity confronts Bails and demands to know what he's playing at

EMMERDALE | ITV WEDNESDAY

Charity's fears as Ryan meets Bails!

WILL HER SON END UP SIDING WITH HIS RAPIST FATHER?

Charity lives out her worst nightmare this week – as Ryan comes face to face with his father!

Conniving Bails knows that getting Ryan on side could be his only hope of avoiding prosecution after Charity accused him of serious sexual abuse when she was just a young teenager. Ryan's worried mum Irene calls Charity as she discovers Bails in their house – but is Ryan really taken in by his manipulative biological father?

“Bails wants to meet Ryan under the guise that he's trying to get to know him and finally be a father to him – but Ryan suspects that there is something amiss!” explains James Moore, who plays Emmerdale's newest Dingle. “Yet at the same time, Ryan is curious, and does want to know what Bails has to say as he needs to understand both sides of the story.”

It's been tough for Ryan to hear that he was conceived during a violent rape and that his teenage mother had been sexually abused by Bails and his friends during that terrible time. He's had to come to terms with a lot of hard truths, and get his head around what that means about the man who is his biological parent. So after Bails arrives full of charm and seemingly desperate to bond with him, is Ryan's opinion swayed at all?

“When Ryan realises Bails has a family and a wife, his perception is altered – and he is a bit more hesitant to believe Charity's version of events," admits James. "She's definitely alarmed by seeing them together, and worried at the thought that Bails could be putting ideas into Ryan's head."

“Ryan's perception of Bails is altered – and Charity is alarmed!”

There's a massive scene when Charity arrives at Ryan's home and goes nuts after finding him with her attacker. Her reaction is so severe that it makes Ryan lose his temper too – as he doesn't want another choice being taken away from him. "At the end of the day, Charity is concerned about Ryan's safety, but he is annoyed that everyone is interfering in what he believes is his business," shares James. "Ryan has only had people tell him about what Bails did, and because he is on a quest to gain this independent lifestyle, he wants to decide for himself." If it looks as though these scenes are pretty powerful,

Charity steels herself to introduce the Dingles to her secret son spare a thought for James and his co-stars who had to endure a boiling day on set. "It was an incredibly hot day, and we were sat in a living room with bright lights shining on us," he explains. "But it was still great working with everyone as always, and the script was wonderfully written and really intense!"

Kate White

TRIAL AND TERROR!

Charity must face her past in court...

There's bigger drama yet to come, as Bails' trial begins this autumn. The tense episodes are currently being filmed at Bradford City Hall, and while Charity will have plenty of support when she faces off with her nemesis – the actresses behind Vanessa, Chas and Harriet have all been spotted filming – Emma Atkins, who plays her, reckons she might just need it. "Charity wonders how on earth a jury would ever believe her over Bails," she says.

Phil rails at both Sharon and Keanu for their lies and deceit him not to let slip any of the details about the incident with the gang. Flying into a rage, Phil heads home and confronts Sharon, demanding to know why she didn't tell him the truth!

"Phil doesn't really care what the details are – he just hates not being in control," reckons our spy. "As soon as he gets wind of the fact that people are keeping secrets from him – including his wife – he's spitting feathers! Sharon tries Phil sacks his employee Keanu this week – when he finds out how Sharon and the mechanic have been keeping secrets from him about young Dennis! But will Phil's reaction only result in Sharon and Keanu growing closer?

The latest drama occurs after Phil takes his stepson out for the day. However, as Dennis spots the gang who recently tormented him, he rushes off in a panic, leaving Phil baffled by the lad's reaction.

"Phil is unaware of Dennis' most recent run-in with these teenage bullies," our Walford insider reminds us. "He has no idea how they took the terrified boy with them in a stolen car, or how Sharon and Keanu rescued him from their clutches. When Phil sees Dennis' face, he gets suspicious that his wife has kept things from him..."

Later, Sharon thanks Keanu again for his heroics, and begs to Phil. Later, as Phil returns to the Arches, he questions Keanu about Dennis, but the mechanic keeps his word to Sharon and plays dumb. However, Phil finally gets some answers after Karen hands back Dennis' mended jacket, and reveals a little too much

PHIL MITCHELL

While Sharon married Grant in 1991, it didn't take her long to hook up with his brother, Phil! They had a fling, but a recording exposing the secret affair was played in the Vic at Phil and Kathy's engagement party!

DENNIS RICKMAN

Although there was no blood link between siblings Sharon and Dennis, they knew their romance would be seen as incestuous by their father, Den Watts. He eventually found out their passion and concocted a scheme to split them up.

JACK BRANNING

Sharon's relationship with Jack was complicated when she realised he still loved his ex-wife Ronnie. Meanwhile, Phil was determined to win back Sharon! Both men proposed, but Jack dumped her – and she ended up marrying Phil!

to explain that she only kept quiet because she feared he'd kick off, just like he's doing now. And when Keanu tries to stick up for Sharon, Phil is tipped over the edge and fires him for poking his nose in!"

The next day, Sharon tries to build bridges with Phil, yet he refuses to talk. However, as she meets Keanu to collect the keys to the Arches, sparks fly between the pair, before their moment is interrupted. Feeling conflicted, Sharon confides in Linda about her feelings for a younger man. But how will Sharon react as Keanu asks her out for a drink?

"These two are getting into dangerous waters," warns our mole. "Only a fool would think about messing about with Phil Mitchell's wife. Sharon and Keanu can't deny the attraction between them, though – so surely it's only a matter of time before they end up in bed?"

Back home, Sharon spots a booking confirmation to Spain on Phil's laptop, and assumes that he's taking her on holiday. As she prepares a meal to thank him, Sharon is aghast when Keanu gatecrashes their evening. But will she be saying adiós to Keanu or to Phil?

LIZ & JIM AT WAR!

Just what will her ex-hubby do to upset her this time?

The McDonalds look set to thrash out their differences in a graveside showdown – with Liz going so far as to shove Jim to the ground!

Our spies spotted stars Beverley Callard and Charles Lawson filming the tense scenes on location, on what could be the day of their on-screen son Steve's wedding – judging by Jim's attire. However, it won't be tears of joy streaming from the mother of the groom, as a blazing row kicks off with her ex...

"It looks as though Jim and Liz will find themselves back at the grave of their daughter, Katie, whom they thought was dead," reports our Corrie insider. "It's no secret that when Jim initially returns to the cobbles this autumn, Liz will learn that there was a terrible mix-up at the hospital all those years ago – and that Katie is actually alive. But there are more twists and turns to come judging by Liz's violent outburst in these scenes." As previously reported in

Inside Soap, Liz will be given the news that Katie was adopted and has been living in New Zealand under the name of Hannah. Star Hannah Ellis Ryan, who has been cast in the role, is also pictured in a separate set of filming snaps for the same string of episodes, donning a gorgeous yellow dress and hanging out with a much happier-looking Jim. But the question remains: what happens between the two events to prompt Liz to let rip at her former husband? We expect to find out in the next couple of months.

Liz unleashes her fury on Jim – but what's he done to deserve the attack?

THE OLD BAT!

Star Maureen Lipman has finally turned up in Weatherfield...

While Liz and Jim battle it out over Hannah, Tyrone and Fiz will embark on a family reunion of their own – but that doesn't look set to end well, either!

Stars Alan Halsall (Ty) and Jennie McAlpine (Fiz) have been enjoying a location shoot with actress Maureen Lipman, who has begun filming as Tyrone's monster granny Evelyn Plummer.

"Tyrone might wish he'd never knocked on Evelyn's door," despairs our Corrie spy. "It doesn't look as if she's happy to see him!"

Following the death of his mother Jackie, Tyrone will start researching his family history and his investigations will lead him to Evelyn. However, it will soon become clear that she wants nothing to do with him as she wields a cricket bat!

Meanwhile, Jennie – who will soon be heading off on maternity leave – was in high spirits with Alan as they worked with lovely Maureen. We're sure the actress is a dream compared with scary Evelyn!

EMMERDALE

The star has a personal link to Sarah's Dales plot...

As the Dingles wait anxiously for a donor heart to become available for young Sarah, village star Sally Dexter – who plays the teenager's great-gran Faith – has opened up about similar health issues that have affected her real-life family.

While discussing the soap plot on This Morning, Sally revealed that both her father and brother died following cardiac problems.

"My father, when he was 29, was told that he had 10 years to live," she shared with hosts Eamonn Holmes and Ruth Langsford. "With three children, that's not what he wanted to hear. But with diet and exercise, he made it to 70."

Sadly, however, Sally's brother didn't manage to reach the same age.

"He kind of went the other way, but he had a great time doing it," she said. "He was 58 when he died."

Sally's Dales alter ego has been supporting her granddaughter

Sally – who herself turned 58 in April – has played a huge role in Sarah's ongoing health battle, with her alter ego Faith recently breaking the lass out of hospital to try to convince her to agree to a heart transplant. And the story continues...

HOLBY CITY | BBC1 TUESDAY

Sacha plans to take his own life

HIS BATTLE WITH DEPRESSION BUILDS TO A HEARTBREAKING CLIMAX...

Dominic is unaware of what's going on in his colleague's mind

Holby City dedicates an entire episode to Sacha this week, as the long-serving doctor considers jumping from the hospital roof.

Viewers will see Sacha struggle with his mental health following a devastating surgical outcome for one of his favourite patients, Connor. However, over the course of the hour we'll see flashbacks to previous episodes – with new scenes shot from Sacha's perspective – that suggest his battle with depression has been simmering away for much longer than anyone could have realised...

"The idea behind it is that when people have depression, they keep it very well hidden and become very good at covering it up," explains actor Bob Barratt, who plays Sacha. "When we first began this story last year, it ran for two episodes, and I think people thought, 'Where has the depression gone?' – but it has always been there, and the plan was to show these flashbacks from the whole of the past year.

"From the shooting onwards, to various big events that have affected the hospital, you'll see Sacha's reaction to those moments," adds the star. "For example, Raf Di Lucca's death, Essie's reaction to that and Jac's breakdown are all iconic moments that Sacha privately struggled with."

When time rewinds, we'll also have the opportunity to witness Sacha's relationship start to develop with Connor, whose death this week triggers the moment the consultant heads to the roof.

"After all these things that have been plaguing Sacha, Connor's death pushes him to the brink," explains Bob. "He's tormented by his feelings of uselessness and inner turmoil. He and Essie aren't together, Sacha is estranged from his family and Jac has Fletch, so in his head, Sacha thinks they can all survive without him.

"He says goodbye to Connor, and has moments with both Dom and Jac, and then Sacha heads to the roof," continues the actor. "There is no hesitation when he steps on to the ledge. He knows what he is going to do."

As Sacha plans to end his life, one of his colleagues spots him from the hospital car park below. Can they make it to the top of the building in time, and attempt to talk him out of jumping? Or is too late for Sacha?

Laura-Jayne Tyler

"Sacha says his goodbyes – and then heads to the roof"

Sacha is devastated when his patient – and good friend – Connor passes away

"I didn't know it'd be a whole episode!"

Bob takes us behind the scenes of Sacha's roof-top special...

Tell us, Bob, how did you feel when you heard there would be a whole episode dedicated to Sacha?

I knew they were going to bring the story back, and that it would be slightly different from our usual format, but I didn't realise it was going to be the whole episode. When I realised, I was unbelievably touched.

Did you do any research into depression?

I did talk to my friends who have suffered from it. Also, the story team at Holby worked with the mental health charity, Mind, so we could try to be as accurate as possible.

How did you manage to switch off from Sacha's torment away from work?

I have the best family in the world, and also the crew was wonderful, so there was a lot of light relief on set as well. Weirdly, though, the week after I shot it, that's when it hit me. I'd sit down with my wife and she'd say, "You okay?" and I'd say, "Yeah, just got the blues a bit". I think it's an important story, as a lot of people suffer with this.

Finally, what was it like filming up on the roof?

It was windy! I didn't have a stuntman and I did all of the scenes on the ledge myself – but the thing is, I suffer from vertigo. My compulsion was I wanted to shout "Wheee!" and jump off, so it was scary. The whole time I just kept saying to myself, "Whatever you do, don't look down!"

We will see key moments from the past year from a new perspective, learning how they affected Sacha

Billy's jealous revenge!

BITTER ABOUT HONEY'S NEW MAN, HE TAKES HIS FURY OUT ON THE KIDS...

Billy finds out Honey is dating handsome dentist Adam this week – and uses their kids to try to scupper her romance!

Having recently lied to Billy that she was with Kim when in fact she was being wined and dined by the dentist, Honey has to come clean when Adam turns up on the Square. And while Billy puts on a brave face following Honey's confession – agreeing to babysit their children while she's out on a second date with her new beau – after Will starts throwing up while in Billy's care, his true feelings are shockingly revealed...

"In a petty dig at the fact that Adam is a dentist, Billy allows the kids to stuff their faces with sweets," sighs our Walford sneak. "Honey's left in no doubt that something is wrong when Will throws up all over her – but the last thing she's expecting to discover is that Billy is responsible!"

At the start of the week, Adam is visiting his former foster parents Mariam and Arshad when he bumps into Honey and Billy. It doesn't take Billy long to pick up on the chemistry between his ex and the dentist, forcing her to confess to their date last week.

Despite Billy's desire for a reconciliation with his beloved Honey, he somehow manages to convince her he's cool with the idea of her seeing someone new. And when he agrees to look after the kids while the pair meet up again, she assumes all is fine. But how wrong she is...

"How could Billy stoop so low?" snips our insider. "He'd got his hopes up about getting back together with Honey after she and the kids moved in with him again – but taking his envy out on the youngsters is an appalling way to score points!"

Rhona's best mates are convinced her boyfriend Pete is up to no good this week – and their suspicions look set to be proved right when he takes home an attractive blonde! But is heartbreak really on the cards for Rhona?

The realities of Pete and Rhona's burgeoning relationship have recently started to set in, with Pete struggling to bond with her son Leo. The youngster's reluctance to get to know his mum's new man has put a spanner in the works when it comes to their plan to move in together – but apparently loved-up Pete has pledged to do whatever he can to win over Leo.

Vanessa and Tracy remain steadfast in their opinion that Pete is a wrong'un

Meanwhile, cynical pair Tracy and Vanessa remain unwavering in their belief that Pete – who cheated on his former fiancée Leyla with Priya – isn't the right man for Rhona, with Tracy in particular going all out in her bid to prove to Vanessa that Pete is disloyal.

The girls think that they have all the evidence they need as they watch Pete usher an attractive woman into Dale View – and they waste no time in reporting the eyebrow-raising situation to Rhona.

But will what they have to tell her leave Rhona in no doubt that the moment has come to call time on Pete? Or will the fella somehow manage to convince his other half that there's a very reasonable explanation for his shifty behaviour?

when she runs into Adam again, this time with the kids in tow. But she's feeling a lot calmer after Adam offers to take a look at Janet's teeth – and Billy, who's keen to make amends, insists he wants Honey to be happy. But does he really?

"Billy's apparent generosity leaves Honey thinking twice about seeing Adam again – but Kim insists that she must," shares our spy. "However, just as she's about to leave, Billy kicks off once more, pleading with his former fiancée to stay – until the kids waded into the commotion, and the fella is forced to let Honey go."

So, as her evening with Adam again goes swimmingly, can bitter Billy be trusted to allow Honey the space to move on with her life?

Sami and Ellie's families gather to give them a good send-off

Bon voyage, Ellie?

SAMI MAKES HER AN OFFER SHE CAN'T REFUSE...

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 BANK HOLIDAY MONDAY

Ellie is swept off her feet by boyfriend Sami this week, when he dresses as an airline pilot and asks her to travel round the world with him!

Although the offer comes totally out of the blue, Ellie could certainly do with a break after all the trauma that she's been through lately. So will she say yes?

"It's just been one thing after another for Ellie – she recently suffered a miscarriage, and she's feeling really low," explains Sophie Porley, who plays her. "She's not having a great time, so Sami decides to woo her into going travelling with him. It's an open-ended ticket, which means they can go for as long as they like – I think it's a great idea!"

We'd jump at the chance to jet off into the sunset with Sami, but Ellie is hesitant to leave at first. So she goes to visit her big brother James to ask for his advice.

"Harry convinces Ellie to go and see James in prison, although she really doesn't want to," Sophie tells us. "At first, she freaks out and leaves – but then she goes back and apologises. She thinks that, because James and Sami are enemies, James will just tell her not to go. He actually gives her some lovely advice though, and tells her to go off and be happy."

With James' blessing, Ellie returns to the village and tells Sami that it's a yes from her – and before you know it, their families are throwing them a party to say bon voyage. However, there's a spanner thrown in the works before they even manage to leave the village...

"Ellie finds out that her mum has spent all their tax money on the refurb of the pub!" groans Sophie. "It turns out that the very unusual painting of Marnie cost a fortune, and they're basically broke. Ellie has to deal with all of that, because her mum's not being very helpful!"

But the family's precarious finances could soon be the least of Ellie's worries, if she ever finds out that Sami framed her brother for murder! And Sophie reckons that would be the end of the line for their romance.

"James just tells Ellie to go off and be happy"

Aye-aye captain! Ellie agrees to go round the globe with her man

"That would be so upsetting for Ellie," sighs Sophie. "She thinks this is the best relationship she's had, and she's been on Sami's side the whole time. So when it all comes out, she'll be heartbroken and shocked – she just absolutely adores Sami, and won't see it coming..."

EMMERDALE | ITV BANK HOLIDAY MONDAY

Heartbroken Rodney's shock collapse!

HE KEELS OVER AFTER GIRLFRIEND MISTY ABANDONS HIM...

Rodney is at a loss
as to why Misty has taken off

Bernice and Nicola look set to regret interfering in their dad Rodney's love life this week, as he learns that they're to blame for his girlfriend Misty walking out on him – and keels over!

Rodders is already a broken man in the wake of Misty's shock departure, but worse is to come as his daughters are forced to confess that they made his lover leave. Rodney is beside himself with rage at their cruel betrayal, and Nicola and Bernice can only watch in horror as their agonised father crumples to the ground...

"Rodney is incredibly angry about his girls' behaviour, and vows never to speak to them again," reveals Patrick Mower, who first played the Dales Lothario in 2000. "In the midst of this fury, he collapses. It's the first time since I started at Emmerdale that one of Rodney's scenes has been an episode cliff-hanger!"

Stunned viewers are certainly set to be left hanging as horrified Nicola rushes to call an ambulance for her dad, who is clearly very seriously ill. And while she and Bernice are made to wait to learn whether their petty meddling in his romance has killed their father, how on earth will they deal with the horrific consequences of what they've done to him?

"Rodney thought that he'd found his soulmate in Misty," sighs Patrick. "He's had many women in his life – in the village, around the world – he's been a bit of a lad all his life.

Rodney is incredibly angry about Bernice and Nicola's actions"

Rodney struggles to come to terms with what his daughters have done disconcerting for the girls. They're both jealous!"

The truth of this betrayal comes to light as Rodney tries to work out what went wrong with Misty – which eventually sees Bernice come clean.

"Rodney has no suspicions the girls are involved in Misty leaving at first – he just thinks it's weird," shares Patrick. "Then Pollard says something about a dragon lurking, which prompts Rodney to ask the girls what they know. And that's when he finds out."

With Bernice and Nicola's relationship with their appalled old man looking broken beyond repair, their family feud is fast forgotten as Rodney collapses. Is the shock of their scheming set to be the end of him?

Allison Jones

PLAIN OLD PATRICK

He's enjoyed a glittering career...

Having been a star of the small screen for more than half a century, Patrick's face was famous long before he joined Emmerdale. But despite the fact Rodney has resided in the Dales for almost two decades, Patrick is still recognised as much for his lead roles in shows such as Callan, and guest parts in classics including The Sweeney and Minder.

"I've been an actor for nearly 60 years, and have starred in lots of TV series," grins the 79-year-old. "So I'm fortunate that people remember me from that other work, as much as being in Emmerdale."

He's not a womaniser, though, he's a lover – he loves women. He and Misty were in love, and they both believed in the same things. So when she tells him that she doesn't love him, it's a complete and utter shock."

Poor Rodders is initially oblivious to the fact that Bernice and Nicola – having decided that their father's much younger partner has to go – have conspired to get Misty out of his life. And it seems it's for their own sakes, rather than their dad's...

"Rodney's never been too concerned about what his kids think of him – he's hardly ever behaved like a father or a grandfather because he still thinks he's 35!" admits Patrick. "But Bernice and Nicola don't like Misty as she's younger than they are, and they don't like him having a love life.

"He's been very happy – and very noisy – in his relationship with Misty, and that's been

EASTENDERS | BBC1 BANK HOLIDAY MONDAY

The Slaters know Hayley is pregnant!

WILL SHE CONFESS THAT ALFIE IS HER BABY'S DAD?

Hayley is forced to have the chat she's been dreading this week – as the Slater clan finally learns that she's expecting a baby!

Naturally the women are in total shock when they gather around the kitchen table and demand answers from their relative. But can Hayley look Kat in the eye and admit that Alfie is the child's father?

"Hayley doesn't cope well under pressure – she tends to fly off the handle and just blurt things out," despairs our

Walford insider. "If there was ever a time for keeping a cool head it's this very moment – but with the likes of Kat, Mo and Stacey breathing down her neck, it'll be a miracle if Hayley can keep the identity of her babydaddy a secret!"

Hayley's bombshell looks set to explode as her uneasy confidante Jean has trouble keeping shtum any longer. Jean still doesn't know the truth about Alfie of course, but she is keen for Hayley to face up to her responsibilities – and hopes the reluctant mum-to-be will soften after Jean presents her with a babygrow that she has bought especially.

However, Hayley is furious and insists that Jean return it – only for Stacey to walk in and catch the pair arguing!

Jean is forced to lie to her daughter and says she bought the item for Kim, but Stacey is no fool and realises that her mum's story doesn't add up. With that, Hayley pleads with Jean to ask Kim to back up their claim, and the pair strike a deal with their neighbour.

However, Hayley must later accept that her fibbing has all been for nothing – as Stacey walks in on Jean helping her

"Stacey's brain is working overtime..."

It looks as though Hayley is headed for trouble

MOTHER KNOWS BEST!

Star Katie opens up about her kids...

As Hayley struggles to get her head around the idea of motherhood, she could probably benefit from a reassuring chat with her real-life alter ego, Katie Jarvis! The 27-year-old has plenty of practice with two children of her own, and shared some cute snaps of the pair as babies on social media.

"I don't post recent pictures of my kids, as I think they are entitled to their own privacy while growing up with my career," tweeted Katie. "However, I came across some amazing photos of my mini-mes going back five to nine years ago, and I'm so proud of them. Wow, such greatness actually came from me!"

Stacey has a lot of questions after learning Hayley is pregnant alter her clothes, and sees Hayley's baby bump!

"For weeks, the Slaters have made jokes about Hayley gaining weight, though Stacey is under no illusion when she sees Hayley's tummy properly," shares our mole. "Jean begs her to keep quiet, but Stacey's brain is working overtime as she questions who the baby's father is – terrified it's Martin!"

Stacey remembers she and Martin were separated when Hayley was tasked to get close to him on Kat's orders, while the Fowlers fought for custody of their kids. Soon, she goes on the warpath, and decides to approach Kush to see what he knows – but he's unable to give her answers.

Later, Stacey asks Hayley outright – prompting Hayley to snap and insist Martin isn't the man in question. And as her cousin's probing becomes too much, Hayley decides to leave Walford. However, Jean reckons the only way to stop her from going is to tell the rest of the Slaters the truth – meaning Hayley has no choice but to stay and face the music.

How will the clan react? And will Kat finally learn the truth of Alfie's betrayal?

Amy's naked shame!

HER DAD WALKS IN ON HER AND ROB GETTING SEXY...

Amy is forced to endure one of the most embarrassing moments of her life this week, as her dad Paul catches her post-coital with her new boyfriend Rob!

Worse still, Paul is in the process of showing a group of very important clients around Robinson Heights when he walks in on the randy pair in a state of undress...

"Amy is humiliated and embarrassed, and just wants the earth to open up and swallow her!" gasps Zoe Cramond, who plays her. "Of all the people to discover them – it's her father!"

Prior to the humiliating incident, Amy and Rob have arranged to go on a second date – but it's after he rocks up at her work place early that things start to go awry. Showing interest in her job, Rob asks Amy to give him the grand tour of the development site. And once they're alone, the frisky couple can't keep their hands off each other!

"No one else is there, and Rob just charms her," grins Zoe. "He says all the right things, and she sees him as this amazing, gorgeous man – they just can't hold back. They jump each other's bones!"

A construction site may not seem the best place to get intimate for the first time, but if these pictures are anything to go by, we'd say a great time is had by both of them! However, little does Amy realise that she's about to be caught in the act by the worst possible person...

"Rob and Amy emerge from under the covers and are having a giggle together, when they hear footsteps and people talking," explains Zoe. "Rob jumps up to investigate – and luckily grabs a sign to cover his modesty. The next thing they realise, Paul barges in with a whole group of people!"

It's not the ideal ending to their moment of passion – and Amy certainly has a lot of explaining to do to her dad! But Zoe tells us that she had a hoot filming the saucy scenes.

"It was so much fun," she chuckles. "My favourite stuff to do is the awkward comedy. That's why I think Neighbours is so successful – that contrast between the unexpected comedy and the drama."

Amy and Rob share a tender moment on the construction site – and they're soon getting passionate!

Will the shame of being discovered in a compromising position strengthen Amy and Rob's burgeoning relationship? Or will she be too embarrassed to ever see him again?

"Then we're making progress - so shut up, you boring brat, and take in the view... Y'know, I think I lost my virginity behind that tree."

Faith knows that, sometimes, tough love is the best love.

"Why are you being so nice?"

"Because when you feel first and think later, you end up ripping out hair and peeing in women's handbags."

There's a mental picture we could have done without at teatime!

"Daddy Dirk, Daddy Dirk, why did you have to die? But now you can visit Mum and Will, in the asylum in the sky. Daddy Dirk, Daddy Dirk, you've left us all alone, And now you're up in Heaven without your jeans, or a phone... Or a charger."

Will Gemma con the Connors?

HELPING HORRID HENRY
WHEEDLE MONEY FROM JENNY AND JOHNNY...

Gemma has lots to think about as she considers her future

Scheming Henry puts Gemma in a terrible position this week – as he asks her to help him defraud the Rovers!

Having faked a fall in the Rovers cellar, Henry is sporting a cast on his ‘broken arm’ and is now suing landlords Johnny and Jenny to get his hands on some easy money. Gemma had suspected as much, but didn’t want to believe that the man she loves would be so rotten. However, when the truth comes out in shocking fashion, Gemma is left to make a difficult choice.

“Henry isn’t a bad man, just a foolish one,” explains our Corrie insider. “He hasn’t told Gemma that he’s living in fear because some heavies are chasing him to pay £20,000 after he ditched ex-fiancée Cressida. Instead, he’s lied and schemed behind her back, and it looks as if the Connors are going to pay dearly for it. She might be many things, but Gemma isn’t the sort to rob her friends and loved ones.”

Henry’s problems all stem from calling off his expensive wedding to snooty Cressida, and now her family wants payback. With his arm in a cast, he heads over to consult Adam about his legal position, and how to get the best settlement from Johnny and Jenny. The pair are in a tricky situation as they hadn’t got their insurance sorted at the time Henry had his accident. Gemma knows that this could finish them financially, and when Rita tells her a shocking

To find out that Henry would have stolen from Rita makes Gemma doubt everything...

The end for Rana & Kate?

AN ULTIMATUM THREATENS TO RUIN THEIR LOVE...

Furious Kate warns Rana she's ready to end things this week – as the grief-stricken woman prepares for a six-week cruise with her mother.

Following the death of Rana and Imran's father Hassan, their mum Saira wants her son to accompany her on a trip that she and her late husband had planned. Imran is hugely desperate to get out of it, and convinces Rana that if she went instead, she could repair her relationship with Saira. But when Kate hears of this crazy plan, she puts her foot down.

Horried at the idea of Rana going away for so long with the mother who disowned her, Kate refuses to accept it. She already let Rana pretend that they had split up just so she could be by her dying father's side – but now the Habeebs are trying to move on, Kate's had enough of the lies.

Kate White

Kate's not happy with Imran's suggestion

Rana does the right thing by revealing to her mum that she and Kate are still an item, and Saira is stunned to hear that it was all an act. However, given how bad the situation is, Rana knows that the only way she can ever get close to her only remaining parent again is by joining her on the cruise trip.

She's missed out with her dad, and Rana is heartbroken by her damaged relationship with her mum, so she has lots to think about. It will be tough to choose between her mother and the woman she loves, but Kate is forcing Rana's hand. Will she go on the cruise and lose her girlfriend, or give up everything for Kate again?

It's a rocky start to life at the Rovers for Jenny and Johnny!

secret about Henry, she's gunning for the truth.

"Rita found Henry trying to snaffle a £15,000 cheque belonging to her, and she didn't tell Gemma at the time," says our spy. "She wanted to spare Gemma's feelings, but now Henry has shown his true colours with Jenny, Rita is furious. After she reveals to Gemma what Henry did, the poor girl is mortified. To find out Henry would have stolen from Rita makes her doubt everything. Perhaps he's not the man she thought he was."

It's terrible for Gemma when she confronts Henry and demands to know what he's up to. He eventually tells her the truth, but also declares his love for Gemma and begs her to consider their future. If he doesn't pay off Cressida's family, that could be the end for Henry, and he wants a life with Gemma. She now has to choose between doing the right thing for Johnny and Jenny or letting the man she loves fall into grave danger. What will she decide?

HEART OF THE MATTER

Watching Sarah and Debbie at loggerheads in Emmerdale this week has been absolutely gut-wrenching. I don't know who I feel more sorry for – Sarah must be so scared at the prospect of having a heart transplant, but Debbie doesn't want to lose her either. It's just very sad!

👍 | Jeremy

KING KEANU

Keanu is fast becoming my favourite character on EastEnders. His involvement with Dennis and the gang was difficult to watch, yet we're slowly seeing a layered character with flaws – but ultimately a good heart – emerge. I can't wait to see him get more involved with the Mitchells, though I don't think Phil will be happy!

👍 | Sarah

He definitely won't be happy when he sees what Keanu and his missus are doing on p10!

MANY ABI RETURNS

I'm glad they have made Seb's mum Abi into a main character on Corrie. She makes a great mate and partner-in-crime for Tracy. Abi is a feisty, fun character who brings humour to Weatherfield. Now there is a spark between her and Steve following their sneaky smooch, there will be fireworks if Tracy finds out!

👍 | Jennifer, Penrith

I think Abi is a much better match for Steve than Tracy is...

Abi looks out on the horizon, ready for her next big storyline

SHINY STAR BOBBY

Hollyoaks youngster Bobby Costello is a real star in the making! It must be daunting for such a young actor to join a soap, especially as part of the mad McQueen family. But the speech Bobby gave mum Mercy about why he wanted to stay in the village with his Nana Myra was spot on. We need to see more of this little superstar!

👍 | Hannah

There'll be ructions between him and cousin Max about who's the cutest McQueen kid...

SHINY PANTS BOBBY

I've loved all the references in Neighbours to Dipi's musical, Flapper – I do hope we'll get to see a proper performance of it on screen soon. I can't wait to see hotty Cassius in action as Shiny Pants Bobby!

👍 | Pauline

Maybe Neighbours can film a spin-off called Flapper?

Mel thought the make-up was still too understated if she wanted to look like Kat

MEL'S MAKEOVER

It was nice to see Mel let her guard down a bit in EastEnders this week after she allowed Amy to do her make-up. What a cute scene! It's just a shame Mel snapped back into being her usual hard-nosed self as soon as Amy asked her if she would be her new mummy.

👉 | Mia

You can't blame her for that – both Amy's mum and most recent stepmum ended up dead...

HOUSE HUSBAND

Now that Ziggy and Brody are married in Home and Away, it's made me realise what a great catch Brody is.

He's been so supportive of Ziggy and her family throughout her mum's cancer battle, and put his own needs aside. I do hope that Ziggy won't break his heart!

👉 | Jennifer

Not only is Brody a genuinely nice guy, but he can cook as well! Ziggy's a lucky lady...

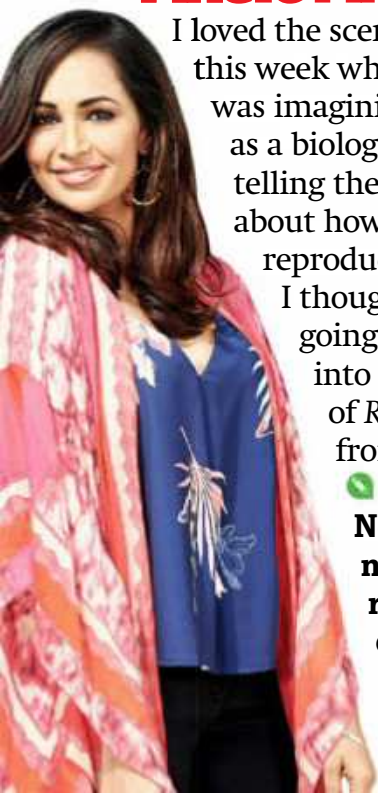

MAGIC MARY

I loved the scene in Corrie this week where Mary was imagining herself as a biology teacher, telling the kids all about how plants reproduce.

I thought she was going to burst into a rendition of Reproduction from Grease 2!

👉 | Ashleigh

Nobody needs to be reminded of Grease 2, Ashleigh!

The BIG DEBATE!

ILLUSTRATION: ROB DAVIS

SALLY ARRESTED!

The former mayor of Weatherfield suffered the ultimate humiliation when she was arrested for fraud in front of her neighbours – while dressed as a clown! Now Tim thinks she cheated on him...

The only crime poor Sally is guilty of is being stupid! She would never be in this position if she hadn't let herself be flattered by rotten Duncan. You would think Sal had been around the block enough times to know a con artist when she sees one!

👉 | Mindy

How can Tim think that Sally would ever cheat on him? Yes she's been incredibly stupid, but let's not forget that Tim was the one who accepted a mysterious payment that popped up in their account without even questioning it! Then he made things 10 times worse by punching Duncan! He needs to take a long, hard look at his own actions.

👉 | Pete

I hope this whole scandal doesn't ruin Sally's marriage to Tim. The Metcalfes are one of my favourite couples in soap – I love the fact that they're annoying the hell out of each other in one scene, but then can't keep their hands off each other in the next! It would be a shame to see them break up over this.

👉 | Genevieve

But some of you have no sympathy at all for Sal...

A spell behind bars could be just what Sally needs! I'd love to see the snooty mayor taken down a peg or two. You won't find me backing any campaign to free her. In fact, as far as I'm concerned, they can throw away the key.

👉 | Mary

That's a little harsh, Mary! Although Sal could use the time behind bars to help reform the prison system...

MAC BACK?

With the news that Jim McDonald is set to return to Corrie – along with his and Liz's secret daughter – I was thinking it would be great if Steve's twin brother Andy came back to complete the family. What happened to him?

Believe it or not, Andy hasn't lived on the

THE BIG interview

CORONATION STREET | ITV WEDNESDAY

“Angie’s a smart woman – she should know better!”

As her alter ego’s rocky marriage with Jude looks set to fall apart, Victoria Ekanoye reckons tough love is the answer...

The writing has been on the wall for Jude and Angie’s marriage for quite some time now – and not even a half-hearted attempt at counselling has unearthed any reason why the struggling couple would be better together than apart.

And let’s face it, when your husband nearly forgets your second anniversary – then cobbles together a heart-shaped cushion with your face plastered all over it as a supposedly romantic gift – it doesn’t bode well at all! So no wonder Victoria Ekanoye, who plays Angie, has some rather robust advice for her miserable alter ego...

“Let him go, Angie!” wails the star, as she joins us for an honest chat. “It’s the end now. Angie is exhausted from trying to make it work, and no matter what she does, she doesn’t feel the way she should towards her husband any more. So my advice to Angie at this point would have to be just get out – Jude’s clearly not the man for you!”

While the breakdown of any relationship is never ideal, eventually the truth must be faced. Particularly the significant fact that Angie shared a passionate snog with hunky lawyer Adam a couple of months back! Although it’s clear that Angie has always remained more pragmatic than her husband, she’s set to hit an obstacle in her bid to let Jude down gently this week – as he colludes with his oblivious mother Mary in plotting a secret vow renewal for him and Angie. But how will she feel when she discovers this?

“It’ll be scary,” sighs Victoria. “Angie hasn’t realised just how deluded and in denial Jude is. So when she eventually finds out about this surprise renewal, it’ll be a massive blow. It’ll feel like she’s being railroaded into staying in a relationship that she doesn’t want to be in any longer.

“She wouldn’t be angry with Mary, who just wants her son to be happy. But as far as Jude is concerned, Angie will be raging – it’s entrapment! Angie is going to feel betrayed and a little bit stupid, because she’s a smart woman, and should know better...”

It’s true that Jude has no excuse for clinging to pointless romanticism – as earlier in the week, Angie finally finds the strength to insist that their marriage is over. Regardless, he ploughs on, convinced that his and Mary’s clandestine scheme will save his imploding relationship. But it’s certain to wreck any hope Angie had of sparing Jude’s feelings in the process...

“The marriage is done – yet Angie wants to break away from Jude as kindly as possible,” insists Victoria. “He’s the father of her child, and she’s going through a myriad of emotions. She did love him, so she’s still feeling hurt and upset. But even if she could manage to forgive him for lying about the fact he was a marine biologist, why is he still lying to her now – and is he ever going to stop?”

It’s a fair question, and we definitely don’t envy Jude once Angie discovers she’s been set up to marry him all over again! Our only dread, though, is the inevitable falling-out between Angie and her enthusiastic mother-in-law, Mary. And Victoria would miss working as closely with Patti Clare, who plays her, as a result...

“I’ve really lucked out with Patti,” grins the actress, who trod the boards in West End musical The Lion King prior to joining Corrie last year. “Yes, Mary’s all guns blazing, and a lot of people thought Angie was a right cow when she first arrived on the cobbles and gave her a hard time, because Mary is so well-loved. But I’m yet to film a scene with Patti where she hasn’t made me laugh when I shouldn’t have!”

Allison Jones

Facing facts: Angie is realistic – while Jude's head is in the clouds

STARTING OVER?

Angie might be in the doldrums now – but Victoria's already looking forward to happier times for the distressed accountant. In a recent interview, the actress announced that new Corrie producer Iain MacLeod has big plans for Angie, and is intent on taking her back in order to move forwards...

"Towards the end of the year, we're going to see a lot more focus on Angie and her past, and to see why she is the way she is – where that's come from," Victoria revealed to The Sun Online. "I had a meeting with Iain a few weeks ago and it went really well. We talked a lot about Angie's backstory, and what we're going to do. I'm excited!"

“I want Ryan to get the FULL DINGLE TREATMENT!”

EMMERDALE'S JAMES MOORE IS CHAMPING AT THE BIT TO BE PART OF THE SHOW'S INFAMOUS FAMILY...

Making Moses laugh: Ryan bonds with his little brother

There's no doubt about it, Emmerdale's decision to bring in the secret son of Charity Dingle has been a masterstroke. In newcomer Ryan, the soap has created a compelling character with so much charm, we took him to our hearts straight away. What we want now is to see him forge strong ties with Charity and the rest of the Dingle clan – but when things turn pear-shaped this week, the future of the mother-and-son bond is in doubt. Is actor James Moore – who plays Ryan – rooting for his alter ego to become part of Charity's life and the Dales community as much as we are?

“Yes! It would be a new beginning for him!” enthuses the star, who joined the show earlier this year. “Ryan just wants to be accepted by Charity, and once she introduces him to her family, the tension and frustration would be over. He can finally get to know his family and make his own mark on the village!”

Charity has promised to tell her clan about Ryan, but things keep getting in the way. It's proved very frustrating for her son, who fears she's ashamed of him. So when she makes plans this week for a big Dingle get-together, he's delighted.

“Ryan's very excited to meet everyone and finally have his real relatives in his life,” suggests James. “I want him to get the full Dingle treatment! I'm sure he'll be thrilled to drink from the welly. His sense of humour and attitude to life clearly resonates with the Dingles – I think he could thrive as part of the family!”

Charity's first step is to properly introduce Ryan to little Moses – her son with Ross Barton – who has already become firm friends with him.

“That's a really touching moment for everyone involved,” shares James.

“Ryan's excited to have a little brother in his life and a bigger family to come into, especially as for quite a while it's just been him and Irene. Although, as much as he is a Dingle, I don't think he could ever turn his back on Irene. There will always be a place in his heart for her.”

Things don't go quite to plan this week, but James knows he's destined for some Dingle drama soon. Is he excited to have been thrust into such a massive storyline?

“Being in the middle of the action has been fantastic!” grins the star. “I love playing roles with tons of drama, and there are so many highs and lows with Charity and Ryan that every day I'm doing something fresh and different. Ryan is so much fun and so cheeky, but sometimes he'll use that as a coping mechanism to cover the really deep hurt he has inside.”

There's so much potential for Ryan, and we're looking forward to finding out more about him. Does he have a naughty streak as wide as that of his con-artist, car-jacking mother?

“I'd love to see Ryan and Charity getting in some trouble together!” laughs James.

“Ryan really wants to scratch the surface on Charity's past. With all of the enemies she's had over the years it would be fun to see somebody come back to try to get one over on her, as Ryan would want to be in her corner when it all goes down!”

The fan reaction to that would be epic, and James tells us the love he's had from viewers has been fantastic.

“The interaction with fans is one of the best parts about this whole experience,” he says. “I was lucky as they really enjoyed Ryan's presence from the get-go and immediately wanted to see more.

I have a great relationship with fans on Twitter, and I feel like I've been taken into this community of loyal Emmerdale enthusiasts with a really warm welcome. I'm so thankful! I try to interact with the fans as often as I can, because they always make my day.”

Kate White

I'm sure Ryan will be thrilled to drink from the welly!

Forever FRIENDS!

James has already found some Emmerdale besties...

He's only been in the show a few months, but James has forged some strong friendships with his co-stars. On-screen, we've seen Ryan get pally with Ross Barton, and in real life James and colleague Michael Parr are close too.

"There's a lot more of Ross and Ryan to come," promises James. "They have their disagreements too, but Ryan is trying to do the right thing and help Ross out, and work through his problems.

"With Mike leaving, I'd love to see as many Ross-Ryan scenes as possible. We make a fantastic duo on and off-screen."

Another good mate of James' is fellow newcomer Ash Palmisciano, who plays Matty Barton. He reckons that their characters could also make a great double act.

"I think Ryan could really connect to Matty," suggests James. "Ash and I talk about it a lot, and the connections are uncanny. We're both secret sons and we've both had disadvantages thrown at us that we're learning to overcome. I think the mutual connection we have with Cain could be a great opportunity for us to get together and realise we're not alone in our respectively crazy situations. Ash and I have become great friends – we get on like a house on fire – so it would be exciting to finally work with him!"

Deny thy FATHER!

OWEN WARNER – AKA ROMEO – SPILLS THE BEANS ON BEING A NIGHTINGALE IN TRAINING...

“ If I’m honest with you, in the audition I perceived Romeo to be really different to how he’s actually turned out,” explains Hollyoaks newcomer Owen Warner, aka teenager Romeo, as Inside Soap sits down for our first chat with him. “I thought he would just be a very angry character, but it turns out that he has much more depth to him than that. There’s a lot going on underneath that cocky front!”

“He’s quite different from me in real life,” continues the actor. “He’s very straight up – he just says what’s on his mind. If he wants something, he’ll go for it and doesn’t really care who’s in the way. That’s been really challenging for me to portray.”

As the secret son of James Nightingale, Romeo has a lot to live up to – and he’s certainly inherited his dad’s flair for manipulation! And if you think that it’s uncanny how similar they are in the way they operate, Owen tells us that it’s no coincidence.

“When I first got the part and started watching Hollyoaks, I very much had a sense of how to play that manipulation,” he reveals. “I watched the disagreements between James and Sami, and studied how James held himself and spoke to someone he didn’t like. He and Romeo have such similar traits, and they go about things in similar ways.”

Father and son may not have actually met properly yet – in fact James is still blissfully unaware that he even has a child – but in a village as small as Hollyoaks, it’s only a matter of time before they do! And this week, Romeo takes the first steps towards making contact.

“Romeo opens up to Prince about his dad – it’s quite an emotional scene,” admits Owen. “They’re talking about how that lack of a male role model in their lives has really affected them, and that’s what makes Romeo think, ‘I’m going for it, I will speak to him’.

“As a child, I’m sure Romeo imagined his dad to be some kind of superhero,” he adds. “So even though James is banged up for murder, Romeo is clinging on to the hope that he didn’t do it.”

But it’s not only his desire to forge a relationship with his dad that’s keeping Romeo busy right now. He’s also pretty smitten with new pal Lily – even though she’s married to Prince!

“He’s learning more about Lily, and getting more attached to her!” grins Owen. “He’s never really had proper friends before, so he’s not really seeing Prince as a good pal – he just wants to pursue Lily. It’s a shame that he can’t see a long-term friendship with Prince, but he expects everyone to do wrong by him at some point.”

We know Romeo will soon be joined by mum Donna-Marie, who we’ve already had a glimpse of in the flashback episode. And Owen tells us that he’s thrilled to have former Corrie and Doctors star Lucy-Jo Hudson as a screen mum.

“She’s incredibly talented,” he gushes. “When we started working together, I expected her to play the character a certain way, yet she’s taken on a completely different interpretation of Donna-Marie. It really threw me! That just makes her so much easier to work with, though.

“At the moment, Romeo’s cocky side is all you see,” adds Owen. “But I think that once he starts to interact with his family more, you’ll see he actually has a softer side – he’s nicer than you think!”

Sarah Ellis

You’ll see that Romeo does actually have a softer side!

Romeo wasn’t built in a day: The fella has been grafting for a while to get closer to Lily

There’s a FIRST time for everything!

Owen talks us through his early days on Hollyoaks...

Prince of lightness: Romeo sheds his dark exterior in a heart-to-heart with his pals

“The first scene that I filmed was for the flashback episode, where I knocked on James’ door. I was worried that Gregory Finnegan [James] would be scary, but he’s a lovely guy.”

“This is my first TV role, so I was really nervous during my first day on set. Everywhere I stood, I thought that I was in the way! But everyone here is so nice, I felt comfortable very quickly.”

“My first proper friend here was Malique [Thompson-Dwyer, who plays Prince]. We’re in so many scenes together, and we hang out a lot. He showed me around and took me under his wing.”

“For my first episode, I went to a mate’s house in Essex. A group of us congregated in his living room, and every time I came on screen, they started cheering!”

“The first time I was recognised, someone tapped me on the shoulder on the train. It was surreal. I’ve dreamed about being recognised, but I didn’t think it’d happen so quickly!”

FOR YOUR SUPPORT!

WORDS: SARAH ELLIS, ALLISON JONES AND LAURA-JAYNE TYLER

While there's always a battle royale between the night-time soaps at the Inside Soap Awards, perhaps the most closely run competition is for our Daytime and Drama gongs – where Casualty, Doctors, Holby City, Home and Away and Neighbours fight it out to be crowned the favourites in four prestigious categories.

“There’s a lot of stiff competition – you guys in Britain make some terrific television,” admits Neighbours star Jackie Woodburne, aka Susan. “We work so fast, and sometimes we live in a bit of a blur – so a lovely endorsement from our fans would mean a lot.”

“Our nude gardening was a definite highlight!”

It may be in its 34th year, but Aussie soap Neighbours is more entertaining than it's ever been. With everyone's favourite couple, Karl and Susan, still at the heart of the drama, we grabbed actress Jackie Woodburne (Susan) to chat about her nomination for Best Daytime Star...

You've already won this award once, in 2015. What would it mean for you to win it again?

That award sits proudly in my study! There is a little shelf next to it, so I think another award would balance the look really well. I already have a home for it should I win again...

You're up against your screen hubby Alan Fletcher (Karl) in this category. Is there any rivalry between you?

Not at all, I'd be thrilled if he – or anyone else from Neighbours – won. Fletch is the person I enjoy working with the most, he's my rock. We've been working together for 24 years, and it's like a good marriage, it keeps getting better. He's had a couple of weeks off and I miss him terribly!

We loved seeing former Home and Away star Debra Lawrance playing Susan's sister Liz. What was that like for you?

Oh, wonderful! We've known each other since about 1981, and I was at the birth of both of her children – we're very close friends. So when I found out that Deb was playing my sister, I couldn't have been more thrilled. I think she's one of the finest actors in Australia.

What's been your favourite scene to film this year?

The ones that I enjoy most are the stupid ones, and I did laugh a lot when Dr Karl was doing his nude gardening. I think Fletch quietly likes getting his kit off!

Why do you reckon that Neighbours ought to win Best Daytime Soap this year?

I think everything has just gone up a notch on Neighbours this year – we've had some extremely high-stakes stories, and we have a lot of brilliant actors on the programme. The whole show seems to have elevated.

How much do the UK fans mean to the Neighbours cast?

They mean everything, I don't think we could do it without them.

What I love about the UK fans is their investment in the show – Neighbours really matters to them. They're passionate and fantastic, and we absolutely love them!

Home and Away

PENNY McNAMEE

Tori Morgan

“So many UK fans come to visit us
on set!”

With sun, sea, surf and sexiness oozing out of our screens every weekday, it's not hard to see why Aussie soap Home and Away is still a hit with UK viewers! And Best Daytime Star nominee Penny McNamee (Tori) would love to see the show pick up some gongs for its 30th anniversary year...

How does it feel to be nominated for the Best Daytime Star award?

I am so thrilled! Never in a million years would I have imagined being nominated for an award in the UK. Plus, anytime my name is mentioned in the same sentence as Ray Meagher's [Alf], I'm excited – so being nominated in the same category is a thrill!

Home and Away* has been busy celebrating its 30th anniversary this year – have you enjoyed that?

It's been really exciting! We've had lots of celebrations throughout the year. Being involved in the show's legacy is a dream come true.

What would it mean to Home and Away to be voted Best Daytime Soap in this anniversary year?

It'd be a great honour for the cast and crew. We work so hard to make our show the best it can be, so this award would be wonderful – especially as it's voted for by the UK fans. So many of them come to visit us on set, and they are always very happy and excited.

What's your highlight on Home and Away over the past 12 months?

Tori and Leah have become close friends, which is a joy for me as I love working with Ada Nicodemou [Leah].

Tori's been through a lot of heartbreak this year – would you like to see her happy?

I'd love to see Tori happy. Tori's life over the past few years has revolved around a man, but she's set to take a stand and decide that she doesn't need one!

Tori considers having her own baby this week. What do you think of that storyline?

Tori has always wanted children, so I'm thrilled that she will work towards making that dream a reality this year.

Doctors
ELISABETH
DERMOT WALSH
Zara Carmichael

“Doctors tells such a huge cross section of stories!”

Lunch is a whole lot tastier when we're in the thick of a Doctors drama! And as Elisabeth Dermot Walsh – The Mill's acerbic GP Zara – shares her delight at being nominated for Best Daytime Star alongside her formidable co-stars Owen Brennan (Dr Heston Carter), Laura Rollins (Ayesha Lee) and Chris Walker (Chris Hollins), she knows better than anyone why Doctors deserves to be voted Best Daytime Soap...

Doctors has enjoyed another fantastic year – are all the cast and crew excited about the show's Inside Soap Awards nominations?

We're absolutely delighted! Time and again Doctors is referred to as the best-kept secret in television, so it's always nice to not be so much of a secret. We were thrilled last year when Lorna [Laidlaw, aka Mrs Tembe] won Best Daytime Star – we're a small, tight-knit team so there's a lot of love when somebody wins something.

Your Doctors alter ego Zara has endured a particularly testing 12 months, testifying against a violent gang...

Yes, but it's been a real gift of a story. For someone like Zara, who tries to present herself as being so in charge, to be so vulnerable, it was just really interesting and enjoyable to explore. Her foundations have been rocked, and her whole life has been affected.

What else have you enjoyed working on this year?

Well, our 'stories of the day' are the lifeblood of the show – you never know what you're going to get. And our Halloween episode always pushes the limits – there's lots of dressing up, and we have great fun. We have another brilliant Halloween coming up...

Is it this varied range of stories which is the secret of Doctors' success, do you reckon?

I really do. And it's directly related to the fact that there's a huge cross section of people who watch the show. When you have such an eclectic audience, a breadth of stories is appropriate.

Why should Doctors be voted Best Daytime Soap?

It's home-grown drama, and our characters are all so vividly drawn – whether they confound your expectations or completely fulfil them, it's always so satisfying.

Zara has been at The Mill for nearly 10 years – what's kept you at Doctors so long?

The fact that Doctors is an ever-changing show. The core of the cast is just 12 of us, but we have hundreds of guest artists – such a conveyor belt of talent. And I know everyone always says this, but it's such a happy place to work!

Casualty
CHELSEA
HALFPENNY
Alicia Munroe

There's been no let-up in the drama on Casualty this year – from Connie's cancer to Alicia's rape, the ED staff have been dealing with far more traumas than just those of the patients! And star Chelsea Halfpenny (Alicia) is delighted to be nominated for two drama awards this year...

You've worked so hard on Alicia's rape plot, so how do you feel to have it nominated for Best Drama Storyline?

It's really exciting! I don't think I've ever been up for an Inside Soap Award before, even when I was at Emmerdale, so it's amazing. We've already won a Bafta this year, so to win this too would be ace!

How has it been for you acting out this plot?

I've thoroughly enjoyed it. I was so excited to get it out there, and I'm proud of the reaction we've had, the people who have come and told me their stories. I found it difficult, but in a good way, so I've really grown as an actress.

“I wish everyone could experience working at Casualty!”

Who have you most enjoyed working with this year?

Michelle Fox [Bea] has been great. The scenes we've had together have been hard, and we've both had to be emotional, but she has such a good energy. I loved that Bea was Alicia's confidante, as it meant that we could work on those tough scenes together.

How do you switch off from such an intense storyline?

It's difficult when you're in all day, every day, then have to go home and learn your lines for the next day. I just made sure I had eight hours sleep every night, and looked after myself properly.

You're up for Best Drama Star as well – why do you think the fans should vote for you?

Because it would be lovely to win. We have such great fans anyway, so for anyone from Casualty to get recognised for all the hard work we put in would be great. Casualty is just such a lovely place to work – I really wish that everyone could experience it!

Holby City
CATHERINE RUSSELL
Serena Campbell

From a devastating shooting to one of the most captivating hospital romances ever, Holby City has been a one-stop shop for drama this past year. We've hardly been able to catch our breath, so thank mercy for the soothing voice of Catherine Russell, who plays Serena. The star joins us to celebrate her nomination for Best Drama Star – as well as Best Drama Storyline for the ever-popular 'Berena' romance...

Berena's love story has been a hit for Holby, so would winning an award feel like the icing on the cake?

Prizes are always nice! People were very quick to rally for us after the nominations were announced, so it's lovely that the audience is so committed to Holby, and to Serena and Bernie. When people tell me what a difference the story has made to their lives, that is the greatest pay-off of all.

Are you proud of the show for pushing boundaries?

I really am. My latest idea is that I'm hoping to do a story about menopause, as you never see that on TV. I'm not quite menopausal myself yet, but I'm willing it comes soon. Periods are so boring!

If Holby does well, who in the cast can we rely on to hit the dance floor?

We will all hit the dance floor either way – win or lose!

What message would the cast and crew of Holby City like to send to the voting readers of Inside Soap?

Vote for who has touched you the most in the past 12 months, whether we are your favourites or not. Vote with your hearts, I say!

“The Holby cast will hit the dance floor – win or lose!”

10 totally true FACTS about... Bonnie Langford

YOUR InsideSoap BRIEFING ON THE WOMAN BEHIND EASTENDERS' CARMEL...

1 Bonita Melody Lysette Langford – known as Bonnie – was born on 22 July 1964, and has been a thespian since she was 15 months old, when she made her first performance as a dancer. In the early 1970s, she won the talent show Opportunity Knocks, and became one of the best-known child stars of the era, making a small appearance in the 1976 movie Bugsy

Malone. She then went on to play precocious Violet Elizabeth Bott in ITV's 1977 adaptation of Just William.

3 Bonnie met fellow actor Paul Grunert in 1987, and soon they began a relationship. "A friend suggested we all get together, but I hadn't thought of him in that way," she explained. "In the end, she couldn't make it, so it was just Paul and me. It's always the times in your life when you're not looking that you find what you need." The couple married in a ceremony held in Mauritius in 1995, and had daughter Biana Jay in 2000 – but Bonnie and Paul divorced in 2015 after two decades of marriage.

2 In May 2015, Bonnie joined the cast of EastEnders as Carmel Kazemi, who quickly became one of the soap's most beloved characters. She was initially introduced as the mother of Kush, with her youngest son Shakil joining the pair on screen a year later. We've seen Carmel enter doomed romances with Masood and Max, clash with Stacey over the upbringing of her grandson Arthur, and deal with the grief of Shakil's murder. Carmel will be leaving Walford later this year, but there's more drama to come yet...

4 Bonnie's first major TV role as an adult was in BBC1's enduring sci-fi series

Doctor Who. She appeared in just 20 episodes as the Doctor's companion Melanie between 1986 and 1987, initially alongside Colin Baker, and then with his successor Sylvester McCoy. Bonnie even made a brief return as her character in a 1993 Doctor Who-EastEnders crossover special, made for Children In Need, getting to meet an aged Pauline Fowler and Kathy Beale in the far-off future of 2013. Yes, that actually happened!

5 Bonnie has starred alongside some huge stars in her time, but none can quite compare with sharing the screen with the Wombles! When she was just 13 years old, she starred in the 1977 movie Wombling Free. “I really wanted to make a Womble film,” she explained at the time. “There hasn’t been a film of the Wombles before, and I think they’re so lovely, so I can’t understand why!” The movie saw Bonnie’s character, Felicity ‘Kim’ Frogmorton, become the first human being to talk to a Womble, before inviting them to her birthday party. Aww!

6 Despite making an early start on the road to fame, Bonnie says she’s actually incredibly shy. “I didn’t want to be noticed,” she shares. “I was the shyest kid. I’d never speak – only if I had to. It certainly wasn’t fame I wanted – there was no talk of fame at all in my family. It was all about learning a craft, to have a career.”

7 In 2006, her career was reinvigorated thanks to appearing as a contestant on the very first series of ITV’s celebrity ice-skating show Dancing On Ice. Bonnie was widely tipped to win the inaugural prize, but in the end, she came third – pipped to the post by Gaynor Faye (Emmerdale’s Megan). Nevertheless, Bonnie took part in the Dancing On Ice tour in 2007 and 2008, and she later returned to the ice rink to compete in 2014’s Dancing On Ice All-Stars.

8 Bonnie has had an amazing career in musical theatre. She was in the original cast of Cats back in the early 80s, and has starred in countless shows, including Chicago, Guys and Dolls – and Spamalot in 2012. Bonnie’s also a regular in seasonal pantomimes such as Peter Pan and Cinderella – and she’s recently signed up for to play Dorothy Brock in the West End production of 42nd Street this autumn!

9 Bonnie’s best friend is writer and presenter Sandi Toksvig – and back in 2014, the pair even starred in their own two-woman show, Short and Curly! “We first met a long time ago at Regent’s Park Open Air Theatre on a gala,” recalls Bonnie. “We became proper friends when we realised we lived down the road from each other. We just have the same sense of humour – it’s a very comfortable friendship.”

10 Carmel in EastEnders is in tears a lot, but Bonnie admits to being even more of a blubberer in real life – especially if she’s watching a weepy movie. “I can be a terrible crier!” she admits. “I’m embarrassing! I’ve always got lots of tissues with me. I think it’s important to let your emotions out. If you feel like crying, cry – it doesn’t matter! If you see a big pile of tissues, I’m inside it.”

Blast from the past

“All of George’s friends are dead now!”

Former Hollyoaks star Steven Roberts reckons his alter ego would be pretty lonely if he ever returned to the village...

It’s been a while since George Smith went through various traumas during his three years in Hollyoaks, yet Steven Roberts, – who played the flamboyant student – says fans still approach him about his time on the show...

“Not as much now as they used to, but it still happens a little bit,” grins the star. “It’s been four years since I left – a lot has happened since then!”

George arrived in 2011, and viewers soon found out he was living on the streets. He then became friends with another homeless teenager, Phoebe Jackson, played by Mandip Gill – who’s still a good pal of Steven’s in real life.

“Mandip’s filming Doctor Who at the moment, which is brilliant,” he gushes. “Once she’s finished, we’ll meet up. We used to live together in Liverpool – I had a spare room in my flat, which felt a bit grand! We worked together a lot, and she’d give me lifts everywhere. She’s literally the nicest person ever!”

Since leaving Hollyoaks in 2014, Steven has been busy with theatre shows – including a nationwide tour of The History Boys.

“It’s been brilliant,” he beams. “Hollyoaks was my first job out of drama school, which I was really lucky to get. But I was keen to do some stage work after that – there’s just something about theatre that’s very different.”

Steven’s currently starring in an adaptation of the classic children’s book The Secret Garden in York.

“It’s a lovely production,” he tells us. “It’s very visual, there’s a lot of puppetry because of the animals in the garden, with lots of music too. It’s a magical show!”

With a panto role coming up at the end of the year, Steven doesn’t have plans to return to TV just yet.

“All of George’s friends have left Hollyoaks – or have perished!” he gasps. “There are so many new faces now, so I don’t think there’d be a reason to bring George back... but never say never!”

STARS OF RAMSAY STREET PAST AND PRESENT COME TOGETHER...

Here's a picture that warms our cockles – Ramsay Street favourites Karl and Susan reunited with their old friends Madge and Harold! Neighbours stars Alan Fletcher (Karl) and Jackie Woodburne (Susan) – along with Erinsborough newbie Bonnie Anderson (Bea) – were joined by their former colleagues Anne Charleston (Madge) and Ian Smith (Harold) for a live satellite link-up with ITV show Loose Women to celebrate its soap week.

Anne and Ian were clearly delighted to be together again, as they discussed working on the show in its 80s heyday – but Anne was rather perplexed when asked if she'd go back...

"I can't, because they buried me!" she exclaimed.

"And I put a big rock on the grave, so she can't get out!" Ian quipped back.

Show legends Anne and Ian returned to the Neighbours set.

FORMER DALES STAR ADAM AND HIS BROTHER SCOTT MARK TURNING 30...

There ain't no party like a Thomas brothers party – and that was certainly true as the stars of soap stepped out to celebrate former Dales actor Adam (Adam Barton) and his twin Scott's big three-zero! Among the guests joining the pair to mark the milestone was older brother and ex-Street fella Ryan (Jason Grimshaw) and his daughter Scarlett – as well as Adam's adorable young son Teddy.

While the family looked super-stylish on the night, other guests scrubbed up just as well for the bash at Manchester's Impossible bar, including Corrie's Jack P Shepherd (David) and partner Hanni Tweek, Jimmi Harkishin (who plays Dev), and Kym Marsh (aka Michelle) – who was with her new boyfriend, Scott Ratcliff.

Adam's former Emmerdale co-stars were in attendance, too – among them his ex-screen mum Natalie J Robb (Moir), as well as best bud Danny Miller (Aaron). And although the night was a happy celebration, tears flowed as Ryan paid tribute to his brothers with a snap of the trio as youngsters. Aw!

Pictured lazing back in an armchair on his owner and Coronation Street cast mate Simon Gregson (Steve), Cookie the dog (who plays Rover) seemed to be taking life as a telly star in his stride – and by the looks of it, he likes a nap just as much as his owner's layabout alter ego!

Over in the Dales, little Tip struck a pose with co-star Bhasker Patel (Rishi), while on the Neighbours set, canine Rocky (aka Clancy) lapped up the attention from the Ramsay Street ladies – in particular April Rose Pengilly (Chloe Brennan)! Well, with the fellas who play the hunky Brennan brothers to compete with, who can blame him? Woof!

TRI YOUR BEST!

Corrie actress Tina O'Brien (Sarah) is used to the limelight as the star of her family – but it was her fiancé Adam Crofts who stole the show recently, after he completed the 2018 London Triathlon! Having worked up a sweat, Tina's hubby-to-be proved what a knight in shining abs he is while posing for a pic with Tina and his supportive stepdaughter Scarlett.

Loud & PROUD!

She's a loudmouth as EastEnders' gobby teen Tiffany Butcher, and Maisie Smith's outfit most certainly matched her on-screen persona when she attended the recent Pride festival in Brighton! Star Maisie – who first appeared on our screens as cute kid Tiff back in 2008 – would have been hard to miss in her pink wig and rainbow-coloured costume, and we think she looked absolutely fabulous!

KEEP YOUR ENEMIES CLOSE...

RICHARD MADDEN AND KEELEY HAWES STAR IN A NEW THRILLER ABOUT WATCHING YOUR BACK...

Keeping watch: Richard Madden plays David Budd

The opening scenes of this new thriller from Line Of Duty creator Jed Mercurio quickly shows us what its leading man is made of: travelling home on the train, war veteran turned Metropolitan Police Specialist Protection Officer David Budd notices some highly suspicious activity. His superiors are so impressed by his heroic actions in what turns out to be a terrorist plot that he gets assigned to protect Home Secretary Julia Montague.

However, David isn't always happy to follow orders and has a reckless streak that could potentially be a risk to those around him...

"I was attracted to the contradictions within this man," explains Richard Madden, who plays him. "He's a man who deeply cares, and wants to protect, but also has these strong political opinions, which get in the way of that. He's constantly fighting with himself – he has this inherent good within him, but..."

Not that David gives anything away during the course of his work – he's a consummate professional. Despite her irritation at the way he disrupts her life, Julia soon becomes impressed with his thoroughness, little suspecting what's really going on behind that inscrutable expression of his.

"The nature of the job of a bodyguard, and therefore also their character, is they give very little away – so I had very little to go on!" admits Richard. "That was quite interesting, because it also gave me a chance to get into the head of the husband, and the father, and that side of things. For me, with him it was more about being a soldier who had been through a lot, and that's where I started to build up where he was – as a young man who went to war."

Keeley Hawes stars alongside Richard as Julia, the woman he's there to protect. She reveals that playing an ambitious member of the cabinet forced her to think about politicians differently.

"At the time, Amber Rudd was Home Secretary – I'm very much not playing her, but she was a brilliant example for me to research," shares Keeley. "I ended up listening to a podcast on Radio 4 that Amber Rudd's sister was taking part in, and she was talking about being a child with her – again, it's like the situation that we're in here with the bodyguard, you want to scratch the surface and get behind it. We don't often see that much when we look at our politicians."

Summer Heights High

I love a really cracking crime drama. I loved Unforgotten – I'm a massive Nicola Walker fan, and Sanjeev Bhaskar is just a dude. I enjoy things like Happy Valley and Silent Witness. The women on screen in these dramas are killing it – if that's not too much of a pun!

I was watching Summer Heights High the other night, that was really funny. And I thought Fleabag was quite extraordinary, I like a great pathos like that – something that's funny but not just funny. Even Summer Heights High is quite a sad programme really – it's like a tragicomedy.

Cooking shows are so inspiring, and they tell you about culture – I'm really fascinated with the way we use different ingredients all over the world. I might be watching MasterChef Australia and they'll come up with lime and you go, "That's a finger lime – we don't even have those limes!" It's fascinating to me.

I'm a massive Marvel Comics superhero show fan, so I've just finished the second series of Luke Cage. I also like a show on Netflix called Anne With An E – I can't believe I'm telling you that! I love things that have a gentle lilt like that – sometimes you just need to escape.

If I could be in any show, I'd like one where I'd be an adventurer-travelogue chef. We never get to see women in that vein – Rick Stein gets to go in a car with the top down and drive through Mexico [in Rick Stein's Road To Mexico], why are there no women doing that? I want to do that!

HANG UPS | Channel 4 WEDNESDAY

THERE WERE LOTS OF THINGS that could've gone wrong with this comedy about an online therapist. Scenes filmed as seen from a phone could've been too claustrophobic, improvised dialogue too messy, A-list guest stars (like David Tennant) in small roles a bit try-hard... but the whole thing works really, really well. This quickly feels like a fully realised world with complicated plot threads, there's not a single duff performance in the whole thing, and the gags are just as tight as in the best scripted shows. We definitely advise booking an appointment with this one.

THE GREAT BRITISH BAKE OFF | Channel 4 TUESDAY

RISING TO THE OCCASION

AS BAKE OFF RETURNS FOR ITS SECOND SERIES ON CHANNEL 4, PAUL HOLLYWOOD AND PRUE LEITH REVEAL WHAT'S COOKING. SPOILER: IT'S PROBABLY A CAKE...

It's not exaggerating to say there was a fair amount of tension last year when The Great British Bake Off moved to Channel 4, with a new presenting team and only half of its original judging line-up. Would it be ruined forever? No, as it turned out: it was still the understatedly intense, quaint competition we know and love, just under new management. The second series under the Channel 4 banner is therefore under less pressure now we know it still works – and judges Paul Hollywood and Prue Leith are very happy about that...

Has your second series together been laid-back?

Paul If it were more laid-back we'd be lying flat. There was a big pressure last year with the move to Channel 4, but this year we've all relaxed into our roles and we've had a really good time filming this series. Prue Absolutely, it's so much more relaxed, we're so settled into it now. Paul and I have a good relationship – I followed his lead at the beginning, but now it's very even-handed. He has just been absolutely sweet, and so professional to work with.

Prue, what was your audition process like?

Prue When I was asked to meet Paul Hollywood to see how we would get on, I had thought we might meet and have an informal chat in a pub.

But when I got there it was make-up, clothes and a cameraman! So I did get a little bit of a shock, but Paul made me feel really relaxed about it and I was less nervous.

Paul I just felt with Prue that she was the one, and the way we were chatting off-camera – I just knew it would work.

How skilled are the bakers on this year's series?

Prue They're exceptional, and skilled in different ways. They all bring something individual and different to the table. Some bring strong and exotic flavours, and others bring intricate flavours with delicate icing...

Paul They are a really talented bunch. I can honestly say the bakers have been exceptional this year. They're highly skilled in flavour combinations and they've worked outside the box and then ignored the fact that I like citrus, which is fine!

Do you both generally agree when it comes to judging?

Paul We do! From the very beginning to the end. We give marks at the end of each bake, and they are always within half a point of each other. Prue It's uncanny. There might be occasional shades of difference, but we both tend to rank every baker in the same order!

Back in business: Prue and Paul return to judge Britain's baking

OVERNIGHT SUCCESS

IS LOVE IN THE AIR? CICI COLEMAN THINKS SO! WE GET THE GOSSIP...

As nice as the First Dates restaurant is, sometimes a simple meal isn't enough to get people in the mood for love – sometimes you need a pool, the Italian sunshine, and the chance of retiring to your room if things go particularly well. That's what we're hoping for as First Dates Hotel returns for a new series this week, and the show's resident waitress/card-carrying romantic CiCi Coleman hints at some sauciness...

"I won't say any names, but these guys are definitely a lot more spicy!" she teases. "The best part is when we get them all around the pool, watching them suss out, 'Is that my date? He's my type, I don't think that would be who they'd put me with' and so on – it's a drama in itself watching people's faces change. I won't say too much but some of the dates continue after their meal, if that makes sense!"

We were keen to know just how invested the team on the show get in the daters on the show finding love, and CiCi confirms it's something they talk about a lot – but she doesn't always manage to call it correctly.

"I'm a bit of a hopeless romantic, so I think that everybody is going to hit it off!" she chuckles. "I just think that everyone should fall in love and be happy and live together in a fairytale world!"

Ready to order: First Dates Hotel is open for business

ANITA AND ME... AND ME | BBC2 9.50PM

It takes a village

We'd have to go digging around in our archives to check, but we think this might be the shortest programme we've ever written a preview for, clocking in at a slender seven minutes. And yet, it manages to pack more insight and affecting moments into those seven minutes than some shows fit into a whole hour.

To introduce the adaptation of her 1996 novel Anita And Me, Meera Syal returns to Essington, the Black Country village where she grew up and which inspired many elements of her story, about a British-Asian girl and her hero worship of her rebellious older neighbour.

"I'd always wanted to write about my childhood because I knew it was an extraordinary one – and an absurd one," shares Meera.

DON'T Miss!

GINO'S WIN YOUR WISH LIST | Channel 5 9PM

Joining Gino in the studio this week are the Reed family from Port Talbot, led by Karen and joined by her sister Lisa, brother Sean, daughter Eevee and niece Georgia. They have a wish list which includes a new car, a hot tub, and designer handbags, and they're hoping to scoop all of that plus this week's star prize of a luxury Kenyan safari. (They could take the handbags with them, but probably not so much the car and the hot tub.) All that stands between them and a prize haul are six rounds of questions and challenges, where they'll be putting the ever-game Gino into some compromising positions.

EIGHT GO RALLYING: THE ROAD TO SAIGON | BBC2 9PM

Through the barricades

We're going to be honest – we're not entirely sure if this was supposed to be a celebrity show, a travel show or a classic car show. It's ended up being a bit of all three, as four famous duos – the only ones that aren't related are Tinchy Stryder and

Jordan Stephens of Rizzle Kicks – get behind the wheel for the Endurance Rally Association's Road to Saigon.

While it's never quite going to compare with celebs in caravans drinking across Britain, there's something to be said for a show that puts one half of 80s pop duo Pepsi & Shirlee back on our screens. She's married to ex-EastEnders Martin Kemp (Steve Owen), and they only ever argue in cars. So this is an ideal moment to turn the cameras on them, surely?

HIDDEN BRITAIN BY DRONE | Channel 4 8PM

This series, where Sir Tony Robinson sends drones into places the human eye doesn't usually get to see, has been fascinating. Tonight is the final episode, but hopefully there's more to come. Until then, we'll have to make do with delving into a top secret active nuclear decommissioning site. Best not touch that drone after, Tony! He also reveals the truth about how crop circles come to be. But the thing we're excited for the most is seeing the drones dispatched to explore the hidden world of bats. Mainly because we're a bit batty about them, if you pardon the pun. Brilliant viewing.

FEAR THE WALKING DEAD | E4 10PM

The true state of the new reality starts to sink in tonight, as the group sheltering in the barbershop is forced to abandon its hiding place when the rioters make it untenable – and Griselda is injured during an escape attempt. That leads to some questions about dealing with medical emergencies when they can no longer get to a hospital – and how much they can afford to be slowed down.

S.W.A.T. | Sky One 9PM

DRINKERS LIKE ME: ADRIAN CHILES | BBC2 9PM

"This isn't a programme about drinking sherry in the morning or waking up in shop doorways," explains Adrian at the top of this programme. "This is about nice, regular drinking and the damage quietly being done to ourselves and to society by drinkers like me."

It's a fascinating point, long overdue for a serious discussion: many of us drink far more than we should, but don't consider ourselves to have a problem with alcohol. Adrian was one of those people, but then he started thinking about the fact that he drinks nearly every day – and when he started keeping a drinking diary, the results were alarming.

So Adrian visits a specialist, thinks about where his love of drinking started – and then considers the benefit of going teetotal...

It's a little over three months since Meghan Markle became Meghan, Duchess of Sussex, which we reckon is just about the bare minimum of material needed to take a look at her royal life so far. This one-off special will take a look at how she has adapted to her new life and navigated the tricky world of royal protocol, and what sort of welcome she's had. Naturally we couldn't do this without the benefit of some talking heads, so look out for contributions from Channel 5 News royal correspondent Simon Vigar, Prince Harry superfans Mary and Irene, and professional malcontent Ann Widdecombe.

SHARP OBJECTS | Sky Atlantic 9PM

Dare we say this prestige drama has disappointed us a bit? Amy Adams is always brilliant, and Patricia Clarkson as a sharp-tongued Southern socialite in soft fabrics has been an absolute treat, but the series itself has been frustratingly slow-paced, and sometimes literally so dark that we can't see what's going on. In tonight's finale, will Camille learn the truth, or will Wind Gap be her undoing?

US OPEN | Amazon Prime Video

You might not think to check a streaming service for tennis coverage, but Amazon has got exclusive rights to this Grand Slam tournament which starts today. Greg Rusedski and Daniela Hantuchova are among the experts on board.

MADE IN CHELSEA: CROATIA | E4 9PM

What happened in Vegas doesn't stay in Vegas tonight, as Harry comes clean to Melissa, and he's not best pleased about Jamie getting Diana involved in the matter. Elsewhere, Alex and Digby line up a forfeit for Liv.

THE YORKSHIRE VET | Channel 5 8PM

Animal kingdom

We're a sucker for an animal show here at Inside TV, so of course we're delighted that The Yorkshire Vet returns for a seventh series – that means 12 more episodes of creatures great and small with vets Peter Wright and Julian Norton. Peter's still based in Thirsk, but Julian has set up a brand-new surgery in nearby Boroughbridge.

He's faced with a strange dilemma when a pig begins a difficult labour, which is an unusual problem for pigs. Also looking for treatment are a cockerel with a lump and a poorly young calf. What assistance can the vets offer?

Meanwhile, Peter is getting over the loss of his boxer, Alf, and adopts a kitten found in a skip. But Toddy turns out to be a little handful...

LONG LOST FAMILY | ITV 9PM

The final episode of this series has a double search for one family. Maureen is looking for her long-lost half-brother Keith, who was given up for adoption when she was young. She needs to tell him the truth about his father – and it might not be the story that he's been expecting to hear all his life. The information he receives, once he's been found on the other side of the world in Australia, spurs him on to find his birth mother. Keith sets off, returning to his childhood home in Wales to see what he can uncover from the past. But will what he discovers be another happy ending for him?

GOTHAM | E4 9PM

There's just one more episode to go before the finale, and the threat level is getting significantly higher as Jeremiah plants his bombs all across Gotham and gives the city just six hours notice to evacuate. Unsurprisingly, it's not long before the city falls into total anarchy, and its salvation appears to lie in the hands of an unlikely team of heroes. And Scarecrow's fear toxin pushes Bruce to his psychological limits – who will come to his rescue?

THE GUARDIAN | Alibi 6PM

Before he was The Mentalist, Simon Baker starred in this US drama in which he played a broadsheet newsp... hang on, we've got the wrong notes. Ah: he played a lawyer who becomes a part-time child advocate for Legal Aid Services.

HARROW | Alibi 9PM

Harrow attempts to establish the facts behind the deaths of a mother and son in a car accident in tonight's episode, but the mystery behind the disappearance of Robert Quinn continues to thicken. Can he find the answers?

UPSTART CROW | BBC2 8.30PM

Dream weaving

At the start of this third series of Ben Elton's Shakes-com, the reviews are in for Will's latest work-in-progress, A Midsummer Night's Dream, and they're not encouraging. His players are describing it as "a midsummer night's snooze" and "a freshly-plucked turkey", while Kate dismisses the whole thing as "mimsy-wimsy soppo-grotty doo-dah".

Will, however, believes that the script provides long-overdue representation for the FSNEP community (fairy, sprite, nymph, elf and pixie). Faced with Kate and Bottom's disbelief at the idea of such creatures existing, Will recalls the early days of his courtship with Anne, when he wasn't sure if she truly loved him, and a helpful forest sprite gave him a magic potion...

911 | Sky Witness 9PM

The Ryan Murphy emergency services drama continues, and in tonight's episode it's not just other people that need to be rescued. Bobby and the crew respond to an emergency at a children's birthday party where lives are in the balance – but one of their own is involved in a devastating critical accident. Athena struggles to cope with a tragedy that hits too close to home, and Abby has to make a life-changing decision about her mother.

THE ULTIMATE MATCHMAKER | W 10PM

More terribly successful, and presumably wealthy, people look for love with the help of an exclusive dating agency. Can money actually buy you happiness? We're about to find out. Travel journalist Christabel calls on Cupid...

MASTERCHEF AUSTRALIA | W 7PM

The great Aussie cooking contest returns for its 10th series tonight, and there's a welcome touch of reassurance for all of the amateur cooks hoping to get a MasterChef apron: all of the previous winners are here to guide them.

OUR EVEREST CHALLENGE: WITH BEN FOGLE AND VICTORIA PENDLETON | ITV 9PM

Climb every mountain

This special documentary comes from the childhood dream of Ben Fogle – he always wanted to climb Mount Everest. We'd probably have wished for money or a pony, but each to their own. Anyway, the point is, dreams do come true, in a 'better late than never' sort of way. Ben's not alone, either: double Olympic gold medallist Victoria Pendleton is joining him. An Olympian is probably more help than a pony, come to think of it. Alongside British mountaineer Kenton Cool, who has scaled Everest a dozen times already (that's just showing off, surely?), they'll put a two year plan into action. It's no easy task, though – while 4,000 people have made the climb, nearly 300 have died trying. "Eep!" barely covers it.

Faith, hope and charity

KEEPING FAITH | BBC1 9PM

Time for the final episode of one of the best drama series in ages. Give Eve Myles all of the awards! Even the ones she's not eligible for! Williams is out of the way, but Faith still has to face the courts in a battle for her kids, and it could mean bad news for the family. Steve turns to his former employers and makes a deal in order to clear Faith's debts. But what repercussions will the deal have for him? Faith finally solves the mystery of her husband Evan's disappearance. But – will she want the answers that she's been looking for? And will there be a second series? Have a little faith...

A LEAGUE OF THEIR OWN | Sky One 9PM

Even the best teams benefit from a change to their line-ups every now and then, so things will be a bit different this series on A League Of Their Own. Long-serving panellist Jack Whitehall has transferred out, and Romesh Ranganathan has been taken off the subs bench in his place. Joining Romesh, James, Jamie and Freddie tonight are Alan Carr, Tony Bellew and Lizzy Yarnold.

OUTLANDER | More4 9PM

In the penultimate episode, Jamie attempts to keep the Jacobite army away from certain doom at the Battle of Culloden. Claire, meanwhile, has her own Herculean task at hand: helping Alex Randall to save the mother of his child.

INSECURE | Sky Atlantic 10.45PM

Issa finds inspiration tonight while she and Frieda are at a job fair, and attempts to use a thank-you dinner as a chance to see where she stands with Daniel. Over at Molly's new 'dream job', reality doesn't live up to expectations...

THE GREAT BRITISH BAKE OFF: AN EXTRA SLICE | Channel 4 8PM

Taking the biscuit

We've been told often enough that consuming excessive amounts of cake will make you larger, and this series is clear proof of that: originally half an hour long in its BBC2 days, upon moving to Channel 4 with its parent show last year it was extended to 50 minutes, and for this year's run it's gone up to a full hour. That's a lot of cake-analysis time.

As ever, Jo Brand will be joined in the studio tonight by a panel of celebrity Bake Off fans to pick through the crumbs of Biscuit Week and discuss where it all went wrong (or right) for the new crop of bakers. The first of them to be dismissed from the tent will be stopping by for tea, cake and sympathy, and the audience will be sharing their own home bakes.

Scream if you want a frittata

DON'T Miss!

CELEBRITY MASTERCHEF | BBC1 8.30PM

Regional variations

By the time tonight's episode airs, one of this week's celeb chefs – Frankie Bridge, John Partridge, Anita Harris, Jean Johansson and Spencer Matthews – will already have been eliminated from the competition, but of course we're not going to tell you who it was. What we can tell you is that the remaining four cooks will be taking on a pairs challenge which will test their ability to communicate as a team, and then they'll all be heading out to Chessington World of Adventures, where Gregg and John inform them that they will be cooking lunch for over 100 employees...

OZARK | Netflix

All ten episodes of season two land on Netflix today, so you'd best book the day off for a binge session if you don't want it spoiled. The Byrdes are finally settling into their new home – but before they have a chance to get comfy, the crime syndicate sends in a ruthless attorney. Will the family be able to weather the storm as they wade further into dangerous partnerships to stay on top? Jason Bateman, Laura Linney and Janet McTeer star.

JACK RYAN | Amazon Prime

John Krasinski becomes the fifth actor to play the part of the titular CIA agent who is forced on to the frontline. The incredibly popular character, previously from books and films, now gets his very own eight-episode TV series.

REEL STORIES | BBC iPlayer 7AM

It's always a joy to see this diminutive star from the 1980s back on our screens, even if it's all a bit high-pitched and shrill on the ears sometimes. We're talking about Gordon the Gopher, who stars in this Kylie Minogue retrospective.

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

IN CHIZZY AKUDOLU (Mo Effanga, Holby City)

She's back! Chizzy was last seen in Holby a year ago, as Mo departed for a new start in London with Mr T and their son, but it's been confirmed that she'll be returning to the Darwin Ward for a two-month stint in the run-up to Christmas. "Being back on Darwin is like putting on your slippers and wrapping up in your duvet," says Chizzy. "I've really missed the cast and crew." We've really missed her bubbly presence too, so we're thrilled! Late 2018

FRANKIE DAY (Ricky Mitchell, EastEnders)

IN EastEnders fans were surprised recently to see that Jack's son Ricky had not only managed to sprain his ankle while playing football, but had also gained a new face! For the past two years, the young lad has been played by Henri Charles – but the role has been recast, with Frankie now playing the eight-year-old. Now

GABRIELLA LEON (Jade, Casualty)

IN Gabriella will soon be arriving as student nurse Jade, who turns up in the ED with Marty (Shaheen Jafargholi). "The two nurses won't see eye to eye," promises series producer Lucy Rafferty. "We're also planning to bring in some new doctors at the end of the series." Autumn

DAVID EASTER (Mac Nightingale, Hollyoaks)

IN Ever since tumbling through a window at the end of last year, Big Bad Mac has been holed up in a care home outside Chester. But you'll have no doubt noticed that he's now back in the opening titles, and Hollyoaks bosses tell us Mac is on the road to recovery. He's set to return as a full-time cast member – ready to create more havoc! Soon

THE EX FILES!

What are the one-time stars of soap up to now?

MICHELLE'S JIGSAW PUZZLE THERAPY!

Ex-Corrie star Michelle Keegan (Tina McIntyre) has revealed how she calms herself down when she gets stressed. "As soon as I can feel myself getting pent up, I either go to the gym or I do a jigsaw," she told Stylist. "It's so therapeutic. I do the 1000-piece ones for an hour at a time, but then I have to put it away."

JACQUELINE SAYS: DON'T BE MEAN!

Former Walford actress Jacqueline Jossa (Lauren Branning) has hit out at internet trolls who post mean remarks to her online. "I am so sick of people who comment on pictures of my kids and tell me I'm doing something wrong parenting-wise," she wrote on Instagram. "Just be nice. Comment it's a nice picture. Or if you don't have something nice to say, then don't say it, or say it to your mate that you're with. Oh wait, you don't have no friends, that's what it is. Rant over!" Well said, Jacqueline!

LISA CHOOSES A DAD!

Former Dales star Lisa Riley has revealed she has a couple of famous faces in mind to play Mandy Dingle's dad, should she ever return to the soap. "There's two people I love – Bobby Ball, or Ricky Tomlinson," she suggested on ITV's Loose Women. So if either star were cast in the role, would it be enough to tempt her to return? "Never say never! It's nice to know people want her to go back."

BOOK

DEATH IN PROVENCE by Serena Kent

When Penelope moves to the south of France, the last thing she expects is a dead body in her pool! Determined to find out what happened to the victim, Penelope launches a bid to uncover the truth.

STAR CHOICE

Neighbours' Ben Hall (Ned)

"I watched Ladybird on a plane, and I loved it. I know I'm a little late to the party, but it was just incredible. The lead actress Saoirse Ronan reminded me a lot of Mavournee Hazel (aka Neighbours' Piper). It was a bit uncanny watching it as they have very similar acting styles."

DVD

Primatologist Davis Okoye (Dwayne Johnson) shares an immense bond with George, an albino gorilla who has been in his care since he was young. But when a genetic experiment goes awry, the ape turns into a raging creature of enormous size.

BOOK

ONE THOUSAND STARS AND YOU by Isabelle Broom

Alice is finally ready to settle down, while Max is the polar opposite following a bad accident. A trip to Sri Lanka is Alice's last hurrah, but it's also when she meets Max – and her whole life changes forever...

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

Given the usual mortality rate in Emmerdale, we can't believe that Megan and Frank walked away with just a few scratches after their open-topped car flipped over. It's a miracle!

There are some key life skills they don't teach you in school. Here's Leanne demonstrating the subtle art of downing a glass of wine while never breaking eye contact with your next victim.

Sharon has an amazing sixth sense to wear trainers on the same day she has unexpected action scenes.

BULLSEYE!

It takes an actress of real calibre to co-pilot a whole episode with Dales supremo Sally Dexter, but 15-year-old Katie Hill, who plays ailing Sarah Sugden, was more than a match for her screen great-granny. Sarah and Faith's 'great escape' made for some moving TV. We hope Hotten General buck up their ideas and find Sarah a heart, or we're sending in Holby's Jac Naylor for a second opinion.

We love it when a soap respects its history. Here's Neighbours' Sheila delivering a gorilla-gram to Clive, in a call-back to his Ramsay Street heyday. Quality!

Oh, Sean. You lived with Eileen for years. She would never see you homeless. Stop being such a proud martyr, and tell her!

Yay! Peter and Carla look so happy! We give it six months.

The hair is the clue. It's surely only a matter of time before Emmerdale's Maya goes full Fatal Attraction.

How very considerate of dying Joyce to spend her last hours leaving ungrateful Ted a treasure trail of sweet little notes to find. She's had more impact on Walford dead than she ever did alive!

Sharon is a woman of many mysteries. But one thing we can be sure of... She definitely has a type.

McCain Oven Chips are always on proud display in David's shop, but this week they actually made it as far as Tracy's baking tray. It must be sponsorship-renewal time!

Mel should quit agonising over Jack wanting her to be mum to his kids. It's a far more appealing offer than when Ian inevitably asks her to be manager of his chip shop!
